The college received a donation of vintage comics at the beginning of the year. In honor of the donor this collection of comics is called the Engebretsen Collection.

Our group was given the collection of THOR comics. We read them, wrote plot summaries and character lists and scanned the cover and inside panels.

Over the semester as people have found out about our project we've received other large donations of comics.

Our class is currently working on digitizing the collection and archiving the comics for the Gould library.
